

School of technological innovation, ESIEE PARIS is an engineering school of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry of the Paris Île-de-France region, and a member school of the Gustave Eiffel University. It trains students in all areas of digital technology and has nearly 2200 students.

Ranked in group A of engineering schools, its high-level scientific environment and the relationships maintained with the most dynamic companies contribute to one of ESIEE Paris' major successes: 98% of ESIEE Paris graduates find a job within six months of leaving the school (89% even before graduation).

English-speaking teacher and course coordinator Head of MSc MOTIS “Management of Technology - Information Systems”

The Gustave Eiffel University is recruiting for a permanent position as "English-speaking professor and teaching coordinator - Head of the Master of Sciences MOTIS, Management of Technology - Information Systems"; permanent position under public law, service equivalent to 384 HETD per year. You will be attached to the “Management of Technology and Languages” department of ESIEE Paris.

Teaching, coordination and monitoring activities

You will teach English at ESIEE Paris, and possibly other subjects (management, sustainable development, etc.) depending on your interests and skills. You will be in charge of managing teaching programmes and you will notably be in charge of the Master of Science in Management of Technology - Information System, the MSc Motis. As part of your activities, you will monitor the recruitment and progress of students, you will be required to develop teaching programmes, and you will lead and coordinate a team of teachers, including temporary teachers.

In order to meet the expectations of the industry and in conjunction with the other departments, you will be able to participate in the reflection on pedagogical innovation and in the implementation of new technologies and pedagogical approaches.

Desired profile

You are a native English speaker with a very good command of the French language. You have a degree in higher education, and if possible a degree in teaching English as a foreign language (or equivalent).

You will have a proven track record in higher education, including teaching scientific and technical English, and if possible supervising teaching teams. You will have excellent interpersonal skills and be able to listen to both students and your permanent and temporary colleagues. You will be interested in recent developments in language learning and teaching, and particularly in information and communication technologies for education (ICT), which you will integrate into your own teaching and into the programmes under your responsibility.
